

The National Scholarship Chairs are recruiting scholarship judges for the 2007-8 Competition year. There are no special requirements except a desire to be part of the process that awards about $60,000 in scholarships this year. People with varied interests and expertise are desired.

National Judging timelines:

Round 1 begins at the end of March, Round 2 begins around the middle of April

Judges receive a packet of around 40 essays via US mail, and will have around 10 days to read and judge the essays according to provided criterion. Judges report results back to me via e-mail.

Additionally judges will be needed for the Mensa Members Scholarship Competition. The judging is similar by the time frame is mid February to mid-March.

If you are interested, send me an e-mail at scholarships@mensafoundation.org. Include your name, mailing address, preferred e-mail address, and vocational and other interest areas so that I can mix up background on each judging team.

Mary Dwyer Wolfe, Ph.D.,
National Scholarship Co-Chair
Mensa Education & Research Foundation, Inc.